

IURA Project - Rockship is agile, flexible and user centric

IURA is an application that allows users to connect with lawyers to get legal advice and answers for their problems. IURA integrates a customer relationship management system (CRM) which is a great tool for lawyers to build and maintain relationships with their clients.

Direct Legal Consultation

That's the basic and also the most important feature of the application.

As we studied, most of the lawyers on our network should be the senior resident, so the design of the app should be very straight forward for them to use.

The UI elements are also designed in the simplest way to reflect the navigation of the application.

The system is matching user request to the right lawyer

Call Routing Logics

To be fair, every lawyer on our network will specify their specialty area of law that they are strong at.

Then, we devise the algorithm to take into account multiple factors and return the right lawyer immediately to the user who is looking for legal consultation to handle the problem.

IURA showcases Rockship's capability in the domain knowledge of:

Designed and implemented the application in the area of digital legal consultation

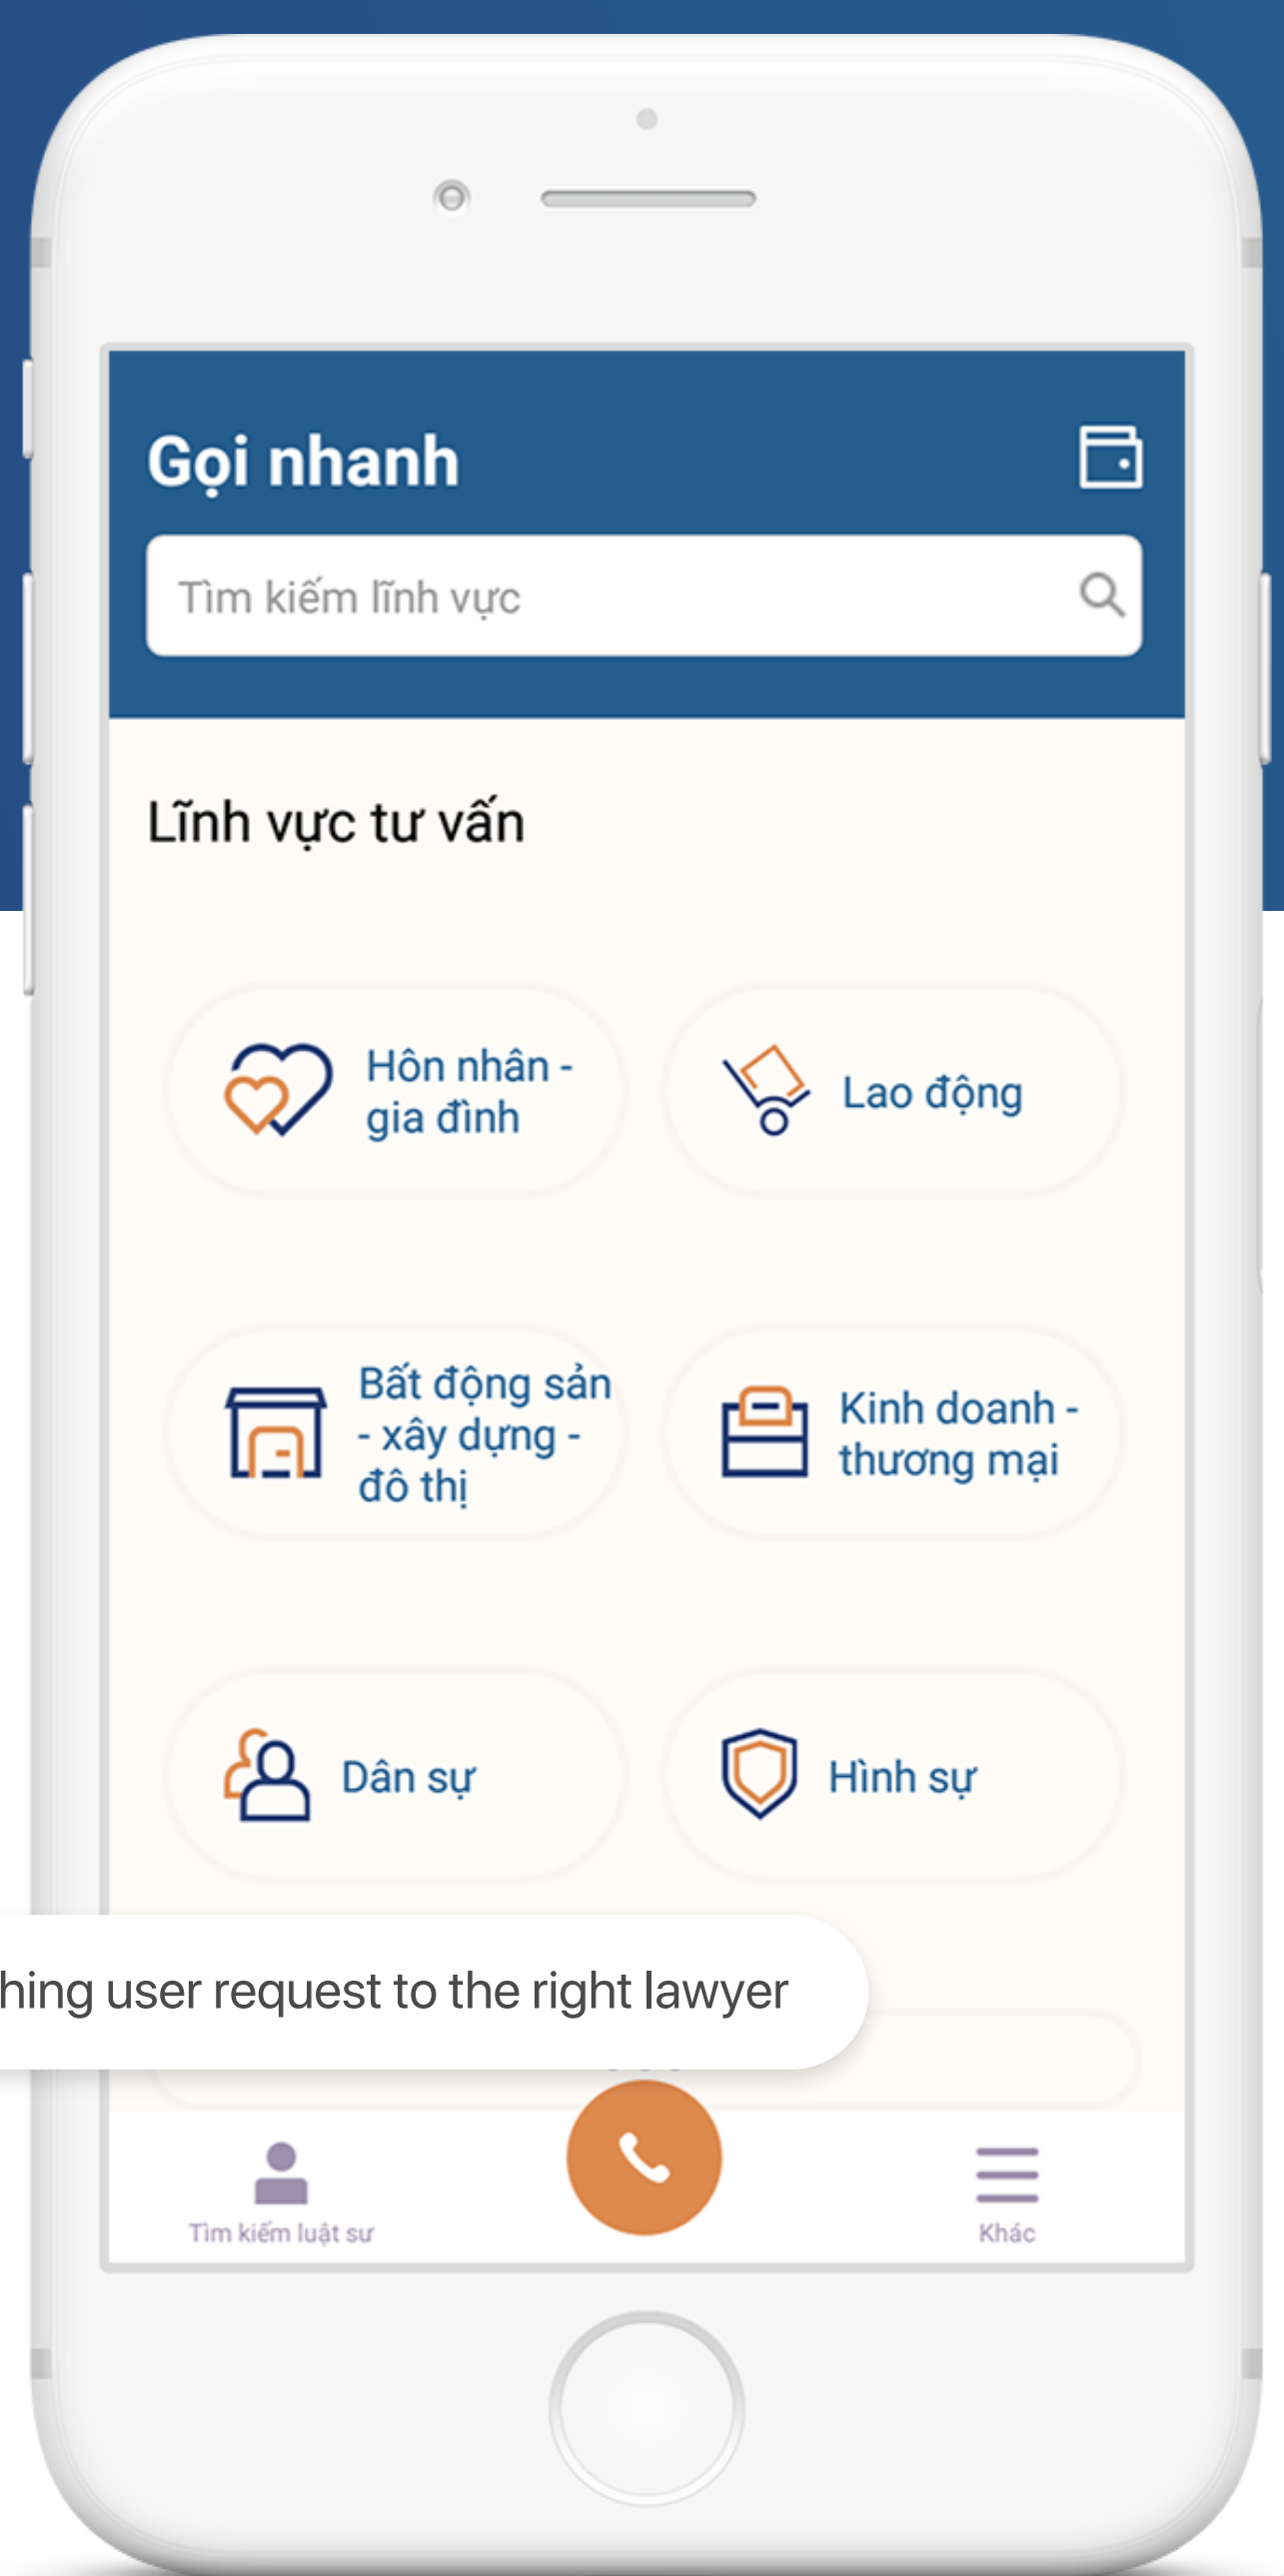

Handled complex call routing logics to find the best matched lawyer for the consultation request

Achievements

The project was completed within 6 months of development for 5 components: iOS, Android, Admin Dashboard, backend development, landing website

The application is built from the ground up by Rockship including user discover, product design to final implementation & testing.

In the project, our team work closely with the business owner

The system is matching user request to the right lawyer

Rockship definitely demonstrated our capability to adapt to our client requests.

For example, during the development process, our client requires us to allow the lawyer to continue to serve users when they put the application in the background mode. This affects our initial technical design of the application significantly.

However, it is a very important feature to have for the lawyer. Therefore, we managed to redesigned and implemented the feature in one month.

This requires a huge collaboration between the business owner, product designer and the whole team of backend and mobile engineers.
